 - B. AR 350-100 (Officer Active Duty Service Obligations), 26 Sep 17.
 - C. AR 600-9 (The Army Body Composition Program), 28 Jun 13.
 - D. DA Pam 600-3 (Officer Professional Development and Career Management), <https://www.milsuite.mil/book/groups/smartbook-da-pam-600-3>.
 - E. MILPER Message Number 17-245, 9 Aug 17, subject: FY18 Army Special Operations Forces (ARSOF) Officer Accession Panel Announcement (Regular Army).
 1. This MILPER message will expire NLT 30 Sep 2019.
 2. Purpose. This message amends MILPER Message 17-245 by modifying the ARSOF Officer Accession Process for Civil Affairs, Psychological Operations, and Special Forces.
 - a. The bottom line is the annual ARSOF Officer Selection Board will no longer be held.
 - b. Officers who have already completed and submitted an application packet through the Special Operations Recruiting Battalion (SORB) will be notified by their respective Future Readiness Officer (FRO) who will coordinate with officers regarding application approval, and if applicable, Assessment and Selection (A&S) attendance.

c. The new Accession process will accept applications through a year-round, on-going screening and accession process. ARSOF seeks highly qualified commissioned active component officers to try out for one of the ARSOF Branches—Civil Affairs (CA), Psychological Operations (PO) and Special Forces (SF). Details on each ARSOF branch are found in DA Pam 600-3.

d. The expected benefits from the new process are allowing officers more flexibility when trying out for ARSOF and decreasing the time between an officer's application submission, application approval, and attendance at an ARSOF Assessment and Selection (A&S) course.

3. Execution. Eligible officers will complete a packet application for the branch of their choice with the SORB. The SORB will forward applications to the specific Branch FRO at Human Resources Command (HRC) for screening, followed by final approval from the respective Branch Commandant. Upon application approval, the respective FRO will schedule the officer for attendance at an Assessment and Selection (A&S) Class. If the officer successfully completes the A&S class and is selected, the officer will PCS to Fort Bragg to continue training.

a. Eligibility. Each branch determines which Year Group(s) (YG) it is seeking. Year Group eligibility is determined by Permanent Date of Rank (PDOR) to 1LT. For FY18, the primary YG focus is YG15; CA, PO, and SF branch specific YG eligibility is addressed in the sections below.

b. Application Requirements. Detailed Branch descriptions and specific application requirements are outlined in Sections 1-3 below (Section 1 – Civil Affairs, Section 2 – Psychological Operations, Section 3 – Special Forces).

4. General Information.

a. As part of the application process, interested officers will submit an application through the SORB to one of the branches. Officers will have the opportunity to indicate primary and alternate Assessment and Selection (A&S) dates as part of their application packet.

b. Upon application approval, the FRO will schedule the officer for attendance at A&S. Every effort will be made to schedule the officer for the earliest available A&S. Officers should expect to attend A&S within 90 days of application approval.

c. Control Branch/Basic Branch. Upon application approval, the officer's control branch will immediately be changed by HRC to facilitate the officer's completion of the respective training pipeline. Officer's basic branch will not change until graduation from the respective qualification course. Officers who do not complete training will be returned to their basic branch for further assignment.

d. Upon A&S selection, officers will PCS to Fort Bragg to begin the training pipeline within six months of A&S selection unless they are not on the CPT Promotion List. Officers who are A&S selects but not yet on the CPT Promotion List will not PCS to Fort Bragg before the CPT Promotion List is released.

e. ADSO

(1) Officers who successfully complete the Special Forces Detachment Officer Qualification Course, Civil Affairs Team Leader Pathway or Psychological Operations Qualification Course will incur a 36-month ADSO upon completion of the course. This ADSO will be served in a Special Forces, Civil Affairs, or Psychological Operations position IAW AR 350-100, paragraph 2-6, paragraphs l and n.

(2) Officers who are terminated or voluntarily withdraw from any ARSOF qualification course will incur an ADSO calculated IAW AR 350-100, paragraph 2-6 (3 days ADSO for each day in training).

7. Section 2 – Psychological Operations (PSYOP)

a. About PSYOP. Born from counterpropaganda and resistance efforts during World War II; modern-day Psychological Operations, or PSYOP Soldiers master the power of influence to shape the global security environment, impact regional stability, and achieve United States national security goals. To ensure the security of the homeland and of Americans abroad, PSYOP forces inspire our allies and motivate foreign populations while exploiting vulnerabilities of foreign state and non-state adversaries who might otherwise believe their actions are without consequence.

“Persuade, Change, Influence” is the motto of the U.S. Army PSYOP Regiment, deploying globally to conduct psychological warfare as a critical component of the United States Special Operations Command. As the Department of Defense’s only influence capability, PSYOP forces support commanders, U.S. ambassadors, allies, alliance and coalition partners, and other governmental agencies. PSYOP Soldiers typically operate in small, autonomous teams or with other special operations forces to develop relationships with a country’s civilian population, government figures, military, and law enforcement agencies. Experts at psychological warfare specialize in unconventional capabilities, cultural expertise, language proficiency, military deception, and advanced communications techniques across all forms of media.

PSYOP Soldiers are model professionals, in peak physical fitness, and selected for their strong intellectual ability, critical and analytical thinking skills, adaptability, and mental resiliency. They defend our nation and deliver hope worldwide to those in despair.
